'He gave us eyes to see them': Sandro Botticelli's 'Primavera'

In March, the world around us is moving from the cold and harshness of winter to new birth as the earth comes to life again in the season of spring. This is the theme of 'Primavera' by the 15th century Florentine artist, Sandro Botticelli. His work in the Sistine Chapel in Rome brought him to the attention of the Medici court, which commissioned this painting in 1482. The Medici dominated the political life of Florence, but Cosimo and his descendants were also great patrons of the arts.

Scholars have never agreed on the exact meaning of 'Primavera,' but it is certainly a celebration of beauty and fertility. We can identify a host of classical figures: Mercury on the left of the canvas separating the clouds so that Spring may come; Zephyr, the west wind, on the right, who is pursuing Chloris; Flora, the goddess of abundance robed in a colourful dress and adorned with flowers. In the centre we see Venus, the goddess of beauty, with a blindfolded Cupid above, preparing to shoot an arrow at the three Graces, whose arms are joined in a stately dance. The setting is a wooded garden where the trees are filled with oranges, myrtle surrounds Venus, and wondrous flowers spring up from the earth.

At first glance the sensuousness and fruitfulness seem almost profane. But we look again and think we see not Venus in the centre, but the Blessed Virgin Mary, whose own fruitfulness gave birth to the Saviour. The three figures by her side could be the Christian virtues of beauty, truth and goodness who dance in her honour, while all around God's creation blossoms forth to bring joy and new life. It is the world of the Song of Solomon, which the early Fathers could only accept as an allegory of Christian love, where the individual soul seeks the Saviour. But that book of the Old Testament was written in praise of the love that moves human life, as much as it moves the universe. And that can only be good because God the creator is good.

The writer invites the beloved to accompany her to the fields and vineyards and find fruits in blossom and plants in bloom: a wilderness transformed by growth and goodness. Just so, we enter the garden of this painting. The characters may be classical, some may be Christian, but as we look we see a creative Love that transforms the winter of death and darkness into light and Spring – the birthday of creation.

JESUS COMES TO JERUSALEM AS KING
As Jesus and his disciples approached Jerusalem they came to the Mount of Olives. Jesus sent two disciples ahead of him and said "You will find a donkey and her colt, untie them and bring them to me."

A large crowd spread their coats and branches cut from the trees onto the road in front of Jesus and shouted:
"Hosanna to the Son of David!"
"Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord!"
"Hosanna in the highest heaven!"

When Jesus entered Jerusalem the whole city was excited and asked, "Who is this?"

teaching, learning and worship available to the whole family— children with their parents and perhaps grandparents? Occasionally, Baptisms will take place in the family service.

Working together, we shall cover most of the services. We've already been dubbed the 'Ant and Dec' of Dedham church!

With this in mind, our Mothering Sunday Service at 10.30am on 15 March will be a family service, with contributions from the children of Dedham Primary School., which the head teacher is keen to promote. We shall also invite recent baptism families to come along too. Our Christmas services reminded us that there are many young families in the areas, so please encourage families you are part of, or know of, to come along.

We are looking forward to seeing what The Lord will do as we all pull together and offer our gifts and talents in His service.

Until the appointment of a new vicar and lecturer, which could take some time, Merv and I will be working under the authority and guidance of the churchwardens who have the responsibility for the running of the church. Please be patient with them over the next few months as they seek the way forward in their discussions with Diocesan authorities.

The wardens see little need for changing the way we do things. We would like to try to develop the Family Service and to encourage families to come (or come back?) by having a shorter service with

In all we do, Dedham Church exists, as always, to share the Good News of knowing God through His Son Jesus Christ, and what it is to become, or be a Christian, in the context of our daily lives. Our understanding of The Bible is key in this. And in our fellowship together, to share each others' joys and sorrows, and to love our neighbours as ourselves.

The Churchwardens write

On 29 January, the PCC met with Colchester's Bishop Roger, Archdeacon Annette and our Rural Dean, Guy Thorburn, at Dedham School.

Following this, the PCC held a meeting in the Vicarage on 3rd February when the Parish Profile in its final form was considered and unanimously approved. This has now been sent to the Dedham Ecclesiastical Trust (technically the patron of the living on this occasion). It has also been sent to the Bishop, Archdeacon and Rural Dean, requesting advice on the next move as the PCC wish to work together with the authorities for the appointment of a strong leadership in the form of a new vicar.

We will do our best to keep you all informed of any progress.

Dedham C of E Primary School

Congratulations to the children who represented our school in the inter-school Quiz Club science competition. Our participation in the championship has now come to an end, however having won round one, we are certainly very proud of our competitors. Good luck to the children who will shortly be taking part in the inter-school general knowledge and maths quizzes.

Years three and four have been enjoying squash lessons this term. A series of lessons over five weeks culminated in a trip to Colchester Garrison to play on the squash courts there. Definitely some potential athletes for the 2028 Olympic Games...!

Year six have now completed their Bible Explorer course. The aim of Bible Explorer is to teach children the storyline of the Bible and particularly the Old Testament. Using storytelling, drama, videos and multimedia, children are able to see 'the big picture' and locate the major geographical movements of all of the key characters. Their five week course was rounded off with a performance to the rest of the school and their parents of what they had learned. A big thank you to Pastor Eric Blowes for once again leading the sessions for us.

The BBC's Ten Pieces project aims to inspire a generation of children to get creative with classical music. Every child in the school watched the BBC Ten Pieces film and since then, each class has been working with one or more of the pieces. Stravinsky's The Firebird has caused quite a stir in reception, year one and year two. Reception even managed to use maps to find some golden eggs!

In the year four classroom meanwhile, some pretty fearsome looking trolls have been created after working with Grieg's In the Hall of the Mountain King!

Water across road at Royal Square

Residents may have noticed the frequent water which spills across the pavement near the War memorial. This has the potential to create a dangerous situation when the water freezes.

BT Openreach has agreed to assist with solving this problem by excavating from the manhole, thus allowing ECC Highways to connect up to the drains.

Cllr. Beeton writes

Dedham public toilets

Representatives of Dedham Parish Council have met with Cllr. Tina Bourne, from Colchester Borough Council to discuss her decision to cease maintenance of the public toilet block in Dedham from 1 April 2015. DPC had objected most strongly to this decision and quickly established the opposition to this decision both from local residents and our many visitors.

This decision has been reviewed and CBC has agreed to continue its maintenance of this facility for 2015/16. Cllr. Bourne has also agreed to raise at cabinet the pressures that Dedham faces from tourism, which we welcome, but which places additional burdens on a small Parish Council.

I would like to thank all those who have supported our campaign and signed our petition.

Nicola Baker writes

Hallfields

The planning application for the Hallfields development was considered by BC's Planning Committee at the beginning of February. The specific considerations included the location of the development, the number of 'affordable housing' units, the potential drainage problems and the concerns of neighbours with regard to overlooking.

The Parish Council had made representations on a number of issues, including the fact that no developer contribution ('section 106' funding) was to be made to the village.

The Planning Officer confirmed that CBC had been particularly sensitive to the location of the development, both within the AONB and just outside the village envelope, and had therefore required a high standard of design in keeping with the rural surroundings, with adequate screening and a sensitive approach to lighting. She also confirmed that full scrutiny had been given to the issue of 106 funding on this development, and, after allowing for the cross subsidy from the private to the affordable elements of the proposal, there was no room for such provision without prejudicing the viability of the project. The benefit to the village was considered to be the affordable housing. She also indicated that the planners had required a number of adjustments to the proposals to minimise the aspect of overlooking existing properties, which included alteration of window locations and the creation of false windows to preserve the aesthetic integrity of the design.

The application was approved. Next meeting: Monday 13 April 2015, 7.30pm in the Duchy Barn.

MR TURNER (12A)

2014 Directed by Mike Leigh starring Timothy Spall

Mr. Turner explores the last quarter century of the great if eccentric British painter J.M.W. Turner (1775-1851). Profoundly affected by the death of his father, loved by his housekeeper who he occasionally exploits sexually, he forms a close relationship with a seaside landlady with whom he eventually lives incognito in Chelsea, where he dies. Throughout this, he travels, paints, stays with the country aristocracy, visits brothels, is a popular if anarchic member of the Royal Academy of Arts, has himself strapped to the mast of a ship so that he can paint a snowstorm, and is both celebrated and reviled by the public and by royalty.

The is an extract from

Conferences and Combination Lectures in the Elizabethan Church Dedham and Bury St. Edmunds 1582—1590

by Patrick Collinson, John Craig and Brett Usher, published by the Church of England Record Society, 2003.

Dedham Byelaws in Elizabethan Times

Dedham conformed to the model of the wood-pasture settlement, which was not effectively manorial, but was looked after by its own inhabitants, whose places in the local pecking order were determined by their wealth and 'credit'. But this is not to say that the institution of the manor was extinct. The courts leet still attended to many of the matters of common concern which would later become the responsibility of parish councils. The byelaws and customs of Dedham, as codified in the 17th century, and enforceable only in the leet court of Dedham manor, include the following provisions:

- No-one was to make hay before Midsummer Day (a fine of £1)
  - Pigs were to be controlled in public places (a fine of 4d)
  - Contamination of the common water carried a fine of £2
  - Exceeding the allowed number of cows on the commons (fine £1)
- Keeping ferrets for any purpose other than for hunting rabbits on one's own property (fine half a mark)

It is a good question how these byelaws related to puritanically motivated 'orders' for the town of Dedham, drawn up and agreed in the days of the Dedham conference. What can be said is that the court leet and its jurisdiction were not held to be adequate in providing a sufficiently 'godly' regime.

A little bit of this and a little bit of that...

There were no large land holdings in Dedham and, unlike some other towns and villages in the region (for example, Terling) no tendency towards larger, concentrated holdings. The land was exploited for purposes of stock-rearing, dairying, wool production, and the growing of rye and wheat.
